the issue carried favorably in the southern half of the county while voters in northern precincts strongly opposed the tax.

as with healthcare costs, total workloss costs were not limited to only those related to a particular condition.