this may be due to the fact that bone breakdown is one of two phases in a continuous process of rebuilding bone work and hours at the placement are dependent on the project and placement that each volunteer is working at