many love shops try to sell spanish fly potions, but these are, fortunately, mostly imitations that offer a placebo effect.

It does not contain polyaromatic hydrocarbons which cause cancer or genetic changes.

just my opinion, but it sounds as if all your medications need to be looked at.

if an author does not exist within the academy's database, please add the author by providing their name along with an accurate and unique email address.